

The Asian Philosophy Forum (APF) is a series of academic workshops and lectures organized by UTCP (The University of Tokyo Center for Philosophy) which seek to re-constitute philosophical critique based on East Asian thought as a common platform. Launched in Autumn of 2012, APF attempts to deconstruct nation-oriented philosophical discourse, such as “Japanese philosophy”, “Chinese philosophy”, “Korean philosophy”, etc.. In this workshop, “life”, “existence” and “ethics” are raised as three key concepts. We will explore different approaches to these problematics from the standpoint of an East Asian perspective.
