

Date and Time:

Monday 20th Jan. 2025, 17:00-18:30

Venue:

Bldg. 18, Collaboration Room 2 4F. Komaba
Campus, U-Tokyo / online

Speaker:

Dr. Manuela Salazar (U-Sussex)

Organization: The University of Tokyo
Center for Philosophy

Cooperation: Kobe Institut for Atmospheric Studies (U-Kobe)

Cosy Vibes: Cosiness as an Atmospheric Aesthetic Category

Manuela Salazar is a Research Associate at the University of Sussex, living in her home country of Brazil. Her interdisciplinary research traverses visual culture studies, media & communications, and philosophy. It currently focuses on theoretically and methodologically examining Instagram visual productions and their creators to investigate the concept of vibes, an aestheticised and vernacular understanding of atmospheres. In her talk, she will discuss “cosiness” as one of these vibes of Instagram, an aesthetic category of staging atmospheres

Registration form for online participants:

Website:

KOIAS
Kobe Institute for Atmospheric Studies
神戸雰囲気学研究所

UUniversity
ofokyo
CTCenter
forPhilosophy

